Organization Formed To Preserve Hunting On State Owned Land

Resolution Condemns State Conservation Department For Purchase

Formation of the Northern Illinois Sportsmen's Association to battle for the preservation of hunting privileges in the Chain O' Lakes area took place Saturday evening in a public meeting at the hall of Bud Holtz' tavern in Antioch.

Chosen as officers were W. J. Murphy, president; Stanley Christian, vice president; R. C. (Bud) Holtz, treasurer; and Homer LaPlant, secretary.

Nearly 80 persons were present at the meeting and there was standing room in the small hall. They were there in protest of the action of the State Conservation Department in purchasing the Hatch estate of 750 acres at Grass Lake and announcing it would be a sanctuary for migratory fowl.

The area has been a place where for a small fee hunters could hunt wild ducks and geese during the migratory season. Action of the state now bans hunting there and the local hunters have no place near here to hunt.

A resolution was passed calling for a public meeting at the State Conservation School at Fox Lake at which Glenn Palmer, state director of conservation, and Joseph B. Davidson, would be present to become acquainted with the attitude of the Lake and Cook county hunters.

Palmer and Davidson sent letters to Arthur B. McDonald of Millburn for reading at the meeting. The letters said the two men were unaware that any large number of persons would be affected by the removal of the Hatch estate from public hunting privileges.

Harry Novotny, a conservation officer, was also instructed to be present, but he could contribute nothing to the meeting because he had no instruction as to replies to the charges.

W. J. Murphy said there wasn't a single opposing vote on the resolution.

Ephraim J. Swanson Dies Unexpectedly at Deep Lake Residence

Ephraim J. Swanson, 78, of Deep Lake, Lake Villa, died at 8 a. m. Wednesday at his home. Death came unexpectedly of a heart attack.

Mr. Swanson was born July 6, 1874 in Stockholm, Sweden, and came to the United States in 1890, settling in Chicago. There he operated a painting business which worked mostly on public buildings.

Since his retirement in 1929 Mr. Swanson has confined his interest to oil and water color painting. His art work, much of which was of scenery, won several blue ribbons at the 1952 Lake County fair. He had made his home permanently at Deep Lake since his retirement.

Surviving are a son, Harry B. Swanson of Lake Villa; a brother Victor E. Swanson of Prospect Heights and three grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held at 1:30 p. m. Friday at the Strang Funeral home with the Rev. Kenneth Plummer of Lake Villa Community church officiating. Burial will be at Ridgewood cemetery, Des Plaines.

Friends may call after 7 p. m. today.

Antioch Masons Begin Busy Season With Third Degree Work on Tuesday

Sequoit Lodge No. 827, Antioch's Masonic lodge, will begin a very active fall schedule on Tuesday evening, Sept. 2, at 8 p. m., with a third degree on a regular stated meeting at the Masonic temple.

"Karl H. Yeager will be the first candidate to have his third degree bestowed upon him at this time," stated John Blackman, worshipful master of Sequoit lodge.

The lodge expects to hold meetings every week during the busy fall. Several candidates are now waiting for their degree work and there are several petitions waiting attention. The annual past master's banquet is scheduled during the month of September.

Edward Schippmann, and his committee will serve refreshments for the Tuesday meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Wilton and two sons left Monday on a motor trip around Lake Erie and Lake Michigan. They will be away a week.

Fog Causes Accident; Served as Sounding Board for Squad Alarm

A dense fog was blamed for an automobile accident at 3:30 a. m. Sunday on Rte. 45 at Millburn in which Robert Norton, 20, driver, and John Parry, 21, both of River Grove suffered multiple head and face injuries.

The men were taken by the Antioch Rescue squad to Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan for care.

The low fog had the effect of keeping down the noise of the Rescue Squad alarm siren and it came so loud that as one member said, "It fairly knocked people out of their beds." Squad members were so deafened by the noise of the siren that they didn't hear the telephone alarm near their beds.

The squad was called out to North Shore Gardens Sunday to give first aid to a Chicago woman who suffered a heart attack.

There will be three weeks of practice before the opening game with Wilmot-High School here Saturday night, Sept. 19. Delay Until Tuesday Opening of Bids on Pump House and Lift

Only one bid on the proposed new pump house was received by the village board meeting last night in adjourned session and that one bid lacked wiring and plumbing figures, the board delayed opening of bids until next Tuesday, the regular meeting.

It is expected that then more than one complete bid will be received on the pump house and that there will be at least one bid on the lift pump.

When these are received the contracts will then be let to the low bidders on the new water well and pump, and for the sewer extension. Contracts will be signed then on all four phases of the general project.

Homer LaPlant was the only bidder on the pump house, and his bid was incomplete.

Lions Oppose Use Of Grass Lake Land As Wild Game Refuge

Resolution Will Be Sent To Department of Conservation

The Antioch Lions Club passed a resolution Monday evening opposing the action of the State Department of Conservation in designating its recently purchased 750 acres on Grass Lake as a migratory fowl refuge and thereby ending hunting in the area.

The club took this action after hearing a discussion of the effects of the state's procedure by W. J. Murphy, Petite Lake. Murphy is spearheading the campaign to get the Conservation Department to again allow the former Hatch estate to become a hunting place for Lake and Cook county hunters.

A report of the passage of the resolution will be forwarded to the Conservation Department and to Governor William G. Stratton.

Murphy's statements were substantiated by Morris Benzuly, member of the Fox Lake Lions club who is serving as deputy district governor, and who made a brief talk before the Antioch club. He announced that Murphy would address his club Tuesday evening.

Benzuly also urged the club to be more active in sending delegates to state conventions. He suggested that a fund be set aside to provide expenses for delegates.

The club held its meeting at Smart's Country House. Besides the talks on the proposed game refuge, the club heard a report on its recent carnival which was quite successful. Profits are expected to approach $3,000 after all bills are paid.

Edward Salaris, president of the Little League, reported that the league had a successful season and had more teams and participants than any Little League in Lake county villages.

He said that the league will seek new grounds for next year in the village park back of the Scout House and asked the aid of the Lions club in preparing and outfitting the diamond.

President Homer LaPlant appointed Atty. Ted Larson and Clarence Olsen as a committee to represent the club at Tuesday night's meeting.

The club purchased 25 mirrors from an agent for use in various stores and public places. The mirrors will have a slot at the bottom in which high school football and basketball schedules can be placed for general information.

Henry A. Lubeno, 95, Trevor Resident Dies In Kenosha Hospital

Henry A. Lubeno, 95, of Trevor, Wis., died at 2:50 p. m. Tuesday at the Kenosha hospital where he had been a patient since Aug. 13. He was taken sick on Aug. 9.

Mr. Lubeno was born Aug. 3, 1858 in Wheatland township, Kenosha county, Wis., and had been a resident of that county all of his life. Fifty-one years were spent in Trevor.

The farm which he operated in dairying was owned by his father-in-law, Andrew J. Booth whose father obtained it from the federal government.

Mr. Lubeno was past master and for 45 years a member of the Wilmot Masonic Lodge No. 241. He was also past master of Wilmot Order of Eastern Star.

Surviving are a son, Harry B. of Trevor; two daughters, Mrs. M. I. Barber of Silver Lake, Wis., and Mrs. Vera Dixon of Burlington, Wis.; a half brother, Ben Kaskin of Wheatland and a half sister, Mrs. Emma Katzenberger, Genoa City, Wis.; two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by the wife, Mabel, in April 1933.

The funeral service will be at 2 p. m. Friday at Strang's Funeral home, with the Rev. Howard Benson of the Methodist church in charge. The Wilmot Masons will conduct their service. Burial will be in Liberty cemetery. Friends may now call.

Mrs. Bernard Mueller, Formerly of Antioch, Dies at Chicago Home

Mrs. Bernard Mueller, 53, a former Antioch resident, died last Thursday, Aug. 20 in Chicago. She had been ill with arthritis and was brought home from a hospital a week before death occurred. She was telephoning to her physician telling how well she felt when she fainted and expired before he arrived.

Mrs. Laurel Van Patten, Mrs. Carl Nader and Mrs. L. R. Van Patten, Sr., attended the funeral which was held Monday at the All Saints Episcopal church in Chicago. Interment was at the Acacia Park cemetery.

Tag Team Featured on Wrestling Program at Round Lake Friday

A fiery tag team match will feature Friday night's wrestling show at the Lake County Stadium in Round Lake Park.

Four of the most popular of the country's musclemen will be in on this, and it might well turn into a free for all. Melby, one-time Mr. America contender and rated among the top six wrestlers in the land, will team with sharp and aggressive Billy Goetz, against Gypsy Joe, world's light-heavyweight champ, and Rudy Kay, a ringleader of the old school.

Melby is a Mormon from Utah, probably the best product ever brought out of the West. He's been profiled in a good many national magazines, and his framework is without peer in sports. The Gypsy has already incited Round Lake Park fans, and needs no introduction. He'll be seconded again by his fortune-telling wife.

In other bouts Friday night, Johnny Balbo of LaGrange, Ill., takes on Art Bull of Des Moines, Ia., while New Zealand's Jack Carter will meet Arizona's blond warrior, Jerry Woods. The bouts will begin at 8:30 p. m.

Antioch Recreation Constructing Larger Building for Bowling

New Structure on Rte. 173 Will Provide for 12 Brunswick Lanes

Work is being rushed in the construction of a new 12-lane bowling alley of the Antioch Recreation on Rte. 173 across from Smart's Country House.

The new building and contents are expected to cost in the neighborhood of $150,000, it is said and will be a decided attraction to bowling enthusiasts.

Built of cement block with brick facing, the structure will be 72 by 160 feet in size and will be one story high. The front portion 50 x 72 feet in size will house the dressing and locker rooms, the bar, sandwich shop and office.

Brunswick lanes of the most modern type will be installed.

The new building is expected to replace the one now used on Main street which has only six lanes. Just when it will be occupied is not yet known but Emil Hallwas, one of the owners says the company hopes to open sometime in January. Homer LaPlant has the contract for the masonry work.

The new building is outside the village limits which will make possible the securing of a liquor license which the firm has not been able to get in Antioch.

Two new members of the company have been added recently in the expansion movement. They are Dr. A. N. Berke and William Keulman. Previous members were Ed Carney, Louis Bauer, Hallwas, and Elroy Anderson.

Hopper Inquest Tuesday Finds School Negligent

An inquest, held Tuesday at the Strang Funeral home, inquiring into the tragic death by drowning of Charles Hopper, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopper of Allendale school, Lake Villa, found the school negligent in that proper safeguards were not present at the disposal plant.

The small boy, who wandered away from his home on the school campus last Wednesday, apparently climbed a set of stairs, and toppled into the tank.

The coroner's jury placed the blame for his death on lack of protection at the scene and recommended that the disposal plant be protected by a secure fence.

Clare Appleby, headmaster at the school, said today that the plant had been subject to inspection both by state authorities and insurance engineers on an annual basis, and that no recommendation had been made in the past. He added that plans are already being made to build a secure fence around the plant.

Restrictions Eased On Hunting, Trapping Fur Bearing Animals

Hunting licenses only will be needed this year in the hunting of fur bearing animals, excepting muskrat, mink and beaver, the State Department of Conservation has notified Clarence Shultis, village clerk, who will handle the licenses. The three animals designated may only be trapped.

Licenses to trap fur bearing animal which this year will cost $3.25 (the 25c is for the clerk fee) will permit the trapper to catch as many animals as he wishes. The license heretofore limited the purchaser to 25 for each license obtained.

The special beaver trapping license has been abolished.

No trapping tags will be furnished the purchaser of a trapping license, and the buyer will be required to identify his own traps with his name and address.

The hunting license for out of state hunters will be on a reciprocal basis. Wisconsin hunters must pay Illinois the same fee that out of state hunters would have to pay in Wisconsin. No fee, however, shall be less than $15. Shultis was informed.

Shultis will handle the licenses for this area.

ATHS Students Get Instruct'ns on Report to School for Books

Antioch Township High School pupils are to report to the high school on Tuesday, Sept. 8, to pay for textbooks and to receive general information for the opening of the regular class schedule, Principal A. L. Dittman announced.

Students report to the girls' gymnasium in accordance with the following time schedule:

Freshmen—8 to 10 o'clock; sophomores—10 to 12 o'clock; juniors—1 to 2:30 o'clock; and seniors—2:30 to 4 o'clock.

"Pupils should report to the high school at the time specified because class schedules and textbook receipts will be given out according to class groups," Mr. Dittman said.

The textbook rental system used last year at the local high school will again be used by the students this year. Students rent for a nominal fee all textbooks used in the various subjects. The rental system eliminates the purchase of books and reduces the cost to pupils of about one-third.

Students are held responsible for the rental books and if the books are damaged or lost an assessment fee must be paid so that replacement can be made.

Textbook rental fees will be collected during registration, Tuesday, Sept. 8, and school officials ask that students come prepared to pay the fees. Sophomores, juniors and seniors will pay $4 to cover the cost of books for four academic subjects. All freshmen will pay $5 because in addition to the textbooks used in the academic subjects, a dictionary and dictionary workbook will be used. The dictionary program will be introduced on the freshman level to aid in spelling and vocabulary study. The dictionary becomes the property of the pupil at the end of four years.

School officials feel that the new system has facilitated the handling of books through easier inventory control and easier bookkeeping. Books are also available for re-binding during the summer months. The rental system is definitely a money saving measure to the parents because the outlay of money for the rental of textbooks is not as great as outright purchase of the books.

Economic Highlights

There is little doubt that Senator Taft will live in history as one of the great American statesmen. His tragic death was followed by official honors which are generally reserved for the most respected and beloved presidents. It is one measure of Robert Taft that some of the most unstinted tributes to his ability and character and integrity came from men who had often disagreed violently with his views on what government should and should not do.

The loss of Senator Taft was a national loss in the fullest sense—to a far greater extent than any other man he symbolized the hopes and faiths and philosophies of millions of American citizens. And, of immediate concern, the extent of this loss to the Eisenhower administration is difficult to exaggerate. The Senator knew this—he said to a friend, after his doctors had told him how serious his condition was, that he prayed to be given a few months more of life, "Because Ike needs me, so."

What Senator Taft gave the Administration was a leadership that for various reasons, one undoubtedly being inexperience, the President and other top men have not been able to provide so far. He threw himself wholeheartedly into the task of trying to make this administration a success, and in the process he often subjugated his own ideas. Without this work, the Eisenhower legislative program would have received many more reverses than has actually been the case.

This is why practically all the commentators have said that no one in the Senate can possibly replace Taft as leader. That view is not a criticism of the abilities of the new leader, Senator Knowland. It simply recognizes the fact that no one has Taft's talent for getting things done, in reconciling divergent views, and in bringing order out of potential chaos. And certainly no other senator has anything resembling the standing Taft had with the Democratic bloc—which is enormously important in an evenly-divided senate.

Thus, there exists a vacuum in government. And more and more students are saying that only the president can fill that vacuum, by showing a degree of leadership he has not yet demonstrated. Right or wrong, this is the attitude of the present. It is no secret that the Democrats are hopeful about next year's Congressional elections, and the Republicans are worried.

In the meantime, the president is going about the job of re-stating his philosophy of government. His speech before the Governors' conference at Seattle was informal, but in many ways it was an excellent revelation of his thinking. The Governors and other local officers, he said in effect, have duties going beyond proposing legislative programs and signing bills. They also have the duty to explain, from the special information they often possess, issues and problems to the people—issues going all the way from taxation to the battle for Indo-China.

Then Mr. Eisenhower touched on a theme he has often emphasized in the past—the theme that federal-state relationships must be clarified, that there must be less centralization in government and more local responsibility. He said, and it is a statement that the late Senator Taft certainly would have approved: "The closer we leave government and every kind of governmental responsibility to the people, calling in the federal government where there is a clear service to be performed which could not be performed adequately without its cooperation and its partnership, then I will say we will be headed in the right direction."

Grass Roots Opinion

ONTARIO-UPLAND, CALIF., DAILY REPORT:

"Every taxpayer in the United States has a vested interest in an overhaul of the Federal government. For twenty years the New Deal has encouraged lavish spending at a Federal level thus indirectly furthering its Socialistic revolution. If government is ever again to be brought back to size, many money-spending bureaus and agencies must be abolished entirely while others must be consolidated."

BELLINGHAM, WASH., HERALD: "In the opinion of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Prentiss M. Terry may have made history. The story of Mr. Terry is the story of a federal civil servant who welcomed his own dismissal by remarking: 'I'm for economy. If it hits me, that's all right.'"

GREENVILLE, ILL., ADVOCATE: "The New administration's Commissioner of Internal Revenue is planning a simplified form of tax return for persons with incomes of $10,000 or less. This is wonderful! The man who can make income tax paying as simple and effortless as the paying of state, county and municipal taxes will be listed among the immortals."

The Low Down from Hickory Grove

This idea that "experience is the best teacher" has a gimmick to it. You gotta do something about it except thinking, well, maybe, after all, we are smarter than we used to be. And when we tune an ear to the brainy thinkers we been plagued with in Govt. and our mouth waters for the grand things they tell us about, we waver. We like the idea of security guaranteed. We don't demand that if it don't work our dinero will be refunded. The idea gets us—our Govt. will do our worrying for us—most of our thinking—we can let joy prevail.

The experience of nation after nation before us is put on ice—baby sitting gets to be "big business" 70 and 80 miles an hour on the highway is too poky. The experience of the folks who had a swell time there at the wrestling and gladiators' matches in Mr. Nero's stadium—and then the day after the fire—don't concern us. Our spellers out front—and the brilliant planners on the inside—they have 3 shelled us.

What this still grand or almost grand land needs more of is history book readers. Income tax day would not be the sad day it now is if we had lent an ear to "experience" versus the speller out front and his brilliant pal on the inside.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

SHORT STORY

A Boy and a Dog

By Patricia Marsh

BOBBY was in that state of supreme bliss so often associated with a boy who has acquired a dog. Rusty, so named because of his mottled coat, was Bobby's devoted shadow. There was no separating them.

Mrs. Evans, Bobby's mother, often expressed the wish that their attachment might end at meal and bedtime. Each night the same arguments were presented and each night Bobby cast reproachful glances at his mother.

"He is making me feel like a female ogre," she complained to her husband one evening. "Every time I tell him to leave that dog outside or in the basement, you would think I had committed a crime."

"I suppose it does seem like a crime to him. After all he has never had a dog all to himself before," Mr. Evans said.

"That isn't the way you were talking when Rusty dug up your Iris bulbs," Mrs. Evans reminded her husband.

"I guess not. He really is a nuisance. I'll be glad when Donnie comes back and takes Rusty home," Mr. Evans furrowed his "Bobby, dear, what's the matter?" Mrs. Evans immediately forgot the punishment he was to have received.

brow. "I never know where I am going to find my slippers or boots." "Look! Just look what that nasty dog has done to my new sweater." Beth Evans flew into the living room holding a sodden mass of pink fuzz. "My new angora sweater is ruined." Beth was twelve and at the age when such things as pink angora sweaters symbolized her first faltering step into the state of femininity.

"I've never seen such an ill trained dog," Mr. Evans was duly sympathetic over Beth's loss. "I'm sorry Beth, we'll talk to Bobby about keeping that dog out of the house."

"Bobby will just have to go without his new tennis shoes. We will replace Beth's sweater instead," Mrs. Evans said.

"It really isn't his fault, Claire," Mr. Evans said. "He can't help it if that dog was never taught how to behave."

Bobby came in just then dragging one grey, sneaker shod foot slowly after the other. He seemed strangely alone, for there was no Rusty gambolling behind him. "Bobby, dear, what's the matter?" Mrs. Evans immediately forgot the punishment he was to have received. She took him in her arms and searched his woeful eyes, which were misting over despite his brave blinking.

"Rusty's gone. Donnie came back early and took him home." Bobby dug his knuckles into his eyes. "I haven't got a dog any more."

"Well, Bobby," Mr. Evans put his hand on Bobby's small shaking shoulder. "You know in the beginning that Rusty was to be your's for only a little while."

"Yeah," Bobby gulped. "But having to give him up before I was ready . . . Gee." He sobbed and took his small body off to his room where he could cry alone. That night at dinner Bobby still looked like a small and pathetic rain cloud. "You know, son," Mr. Evans said, "we have put up with a lot from that dog. He tore up Beth's new sweater and you know all the other damage he did."

"But, daddy, he wasn't trained right. He was a swell dog, but he just didn't know any better. You've got to start with them as puppies and teach them what to do. That's what Mr. Murdock said, and he has lots of nice dogs."

The next morning Mrs. Evans asked Bobby to go down to the basement to bring up some strawberry jam. She seemed to be smiling a secret smile.

In a flash Bobby reappeared, his face flaming with excitement. Close on his heels, tumbled, not one, but three fat, fuzzy puppies. Startled glances of amazement flew between Mr. Evans, Mrs. Evans and Beth. Then they all burst into laughter.

"I was wondering," chuckled Mr. Evans, "why mine didn't cry last night after I sneaked him down there."

"I guess three's company," said Mrs. Evans and smiled at her husband.

Look what your FORD dollar buys!

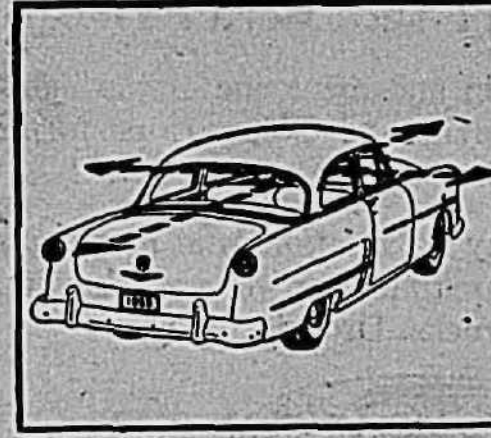

Check the features below against any car in the low-price field and you'll see why Ford's worth more when you buy it...worth more when you sell it.

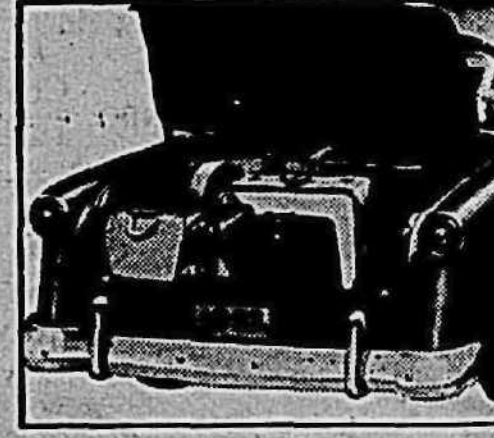

V-8 POWER is yours in Ford—but not in other low-priced cars. It's the product of Ford's experience in building over 13,000,000 V-8's! Ford's high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker Six with Overdrive, is the Economy Sweepstakes winner.

ROAD-LEVELING RIDE reduces front end road shock alone up to 80%. Wide front tread, diagonally mounted shock absorbers take kink out of turns. You'll discover in the '53 Ford that a car need not be excessively heavy to ride smooth as silk.

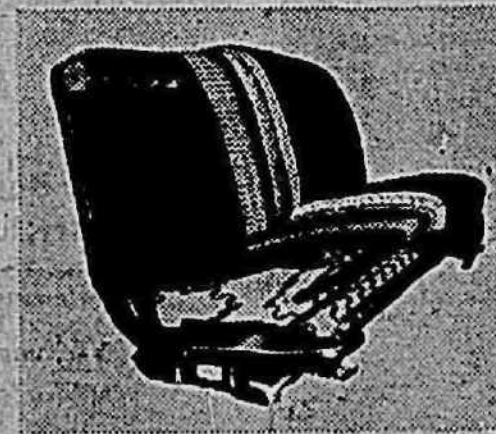

FULL-CIRCLE VISIBILITY is yours in Ford. With huge, curved, one-piece windshield, car-wide rear window and "picture windows" all around, Ford has more "look out" area than any car in the low-price field. I-REST tinted glass also available.

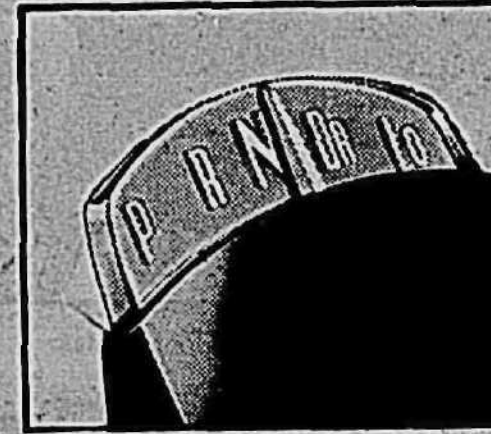

ROOMY TRUNK is one suitcase bigger . . . bigger than any other luggage compartment in Ford's field . . . bigger than you'll find in many of the expensive cars. With Ford's Center-Fill Fueling, there's no long gas-fill pipe to eat up your trunk space.

SUSPENDED PEDALS make braking and clutching easier . . . allow more clear floor space . . . eliminate dusty, drafty floor holes. This feature, exclusive to Ford in its field, permits dash-mounting of brake master cylinder for easy accessibility.

FOAM-RUBBER CUSHIONS over non-sag springs in Ford's sofa-wide seats make even long trips a treat. And you'll find that only Ford in the low-price field offers this fine-car feature as standard equipment on both front and rear seats in all models.

FORDOMATIC DRIVE—an optional extra—is really two automatic drives in one. It has a fluid torque converter for smooth, steady power flow. It has automatic gears for greater "get-up-and-go." Ford also offers you Overdrive and Conventional Drive.

MASTER-GUIDE POWER STEERING—an optional extra on V-8 models—gives you the natural "feel" of steering on the straight-away yet takes the work out of turning. Absorbs road shocks before they reach the steering wheel—adds to safety.

If you're interested in used cars, be sure to see our selections.

Arlington-Milwaukee Polo Teams to Clash In Playoff on Sunday

The season's series between those arch rivals of midwest polo, the Arlington Farms-CYO club and the Milwaukee Polo club, will be settled at Arlington Farms-CYO Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Capt. Bob Uihlen led his powerful quartet to victory in the opening game of the season at Arlington Farms-CYO last May, but the Libertyville foursome evened the score three weeks ago coming from behind to rack up a hard-won victory.

The Arlington Farms riders will also be fighting to avenge youthful Bud Rouse, who suffered a broken leg in a game Sunday at Uihlen Field.

Rouse, a newcomer to the Arlington Farms squad, was playing with the Chicago Ramblers when his horse was tripped by Alan Scherer, of Milwaukee.

The young redhead who has performed brilliantly in his initial season with the Green and White, suffered the fracture in the resultant spill.

Arlington Farms will be at full strength for the game with the full recovery of Johnny Casey from a back injury which has plagued him much of the season.

The burly blonde will be in the offensive No. 1 spot playing ahead of dashing Del Carroll.

Set to stop the offensive rushes of Pedro Silvero, the veteran Argentinian, and Scherer will be Jack Ryan at No. 3 and Billy Ylvisaker at the defensive back.

Scherer, a graduate of Stanford university, was rated the top collegiate player on the west coast last year and is an aggressive, colorful performer.

Bobby Walters and Capt. Uihlen will round out the potent Milwaukee lineup.

Arlington Farms will be shooting for its tenth straight win in Sunday's game against a single defeat.

Alert telephone girl helps track down bank bandits

Two fugitive bank robbers were holed up somewhere in Chicago. This the FBI knew. But where in the big city was their hide-out?

A clue to their whereabouts was a telephone call the robbers made to a woman accomplice in Florida. "Could this call be traced?" the telephone company was asked.

You've probably heard of the many instances where Illinois Bell operators helped locate people, especially in connection with Long Distance calls. But, this time, of course, the calling telephone number wasn't known. With thousands of Long Distance tickets written by operators each day, this search seemed about as difficult as finding a needle in a haystack.

Mrs. Florence Neary, an Illinois Bell Claims Department girl, set out to work with enthusiasm—and judgment. Reasoning that the most likely spot for the bandits to lie low was served by Illinois Bell's Central Division in Chicago, she went there. With the assistance of the Accounting Department, the search through the tickets was rewarded with the right one. And presently, acting upon her information, the federal men found the fugitives' hide-out and arrested them.

Mrs. Neary's desire to be helpful is characteristic of the attitude of all telephone men and women. No matter whom you're dealing with, no matter what you ask, you'll find them eager to do what they can for you!

Miss Service
Representative says:

"You may never call upon us to help track down bandits. You will use your telephone, however, for mighty important calls. Yet, your telephone service is taxed at luxury rates. The excise tax you pay on each Long Distance call (over 24¢) is 25%... in addition to the 15% tax you pay on your local service. One dollar for every six of the average telephone bill is for Federal Excise Tax.

"If you have any questions about the tax portion of your bill, or any questions about your service—whether it's about ordering an extension, rates, moving your telephone, getting an extra listing in the directory, or nearly anything, please call on me.

"You see, I'm a 'Service Representative,' which means I'm your personal representative at Illinois Bell. Of course, I may not be able to answer every question immediately. But I'll get you the answer as fast as I can."

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

"Five o'clock shadow" is more than an advertising man's phrase intended to get you to use a certain brand of shaving cream—it is also a shadow that starts falling over traffic safety every day.

It is the time of day when traffic fatalities begin to show a sharp increase. It is the time of day when traffic is heavy, when drivers are tired after a full day's work, when visibility is getting poor, particularly at this time of year.

It is the time of day when, regardless of how tired you are, how disappointing or frustrating the day has been, you need to use extra caution and extra courtesy in your driving. Nation-wide statistics show that the hours from 5 to 9 p. m. are the highest in traffic deaths. The most dangerous one is from 7 to 8 p. m.; the second most dangerous one is from 5 to 6 p. m. More than 4,500 deaths occurred in traffic accidents in those two hours last year.

When you start home from work, remember you are driving at the most dangerous time of day. Give your driving special attention, so there will be another day.

SHORT STORY

Perfect Job

By John Davis

MANNY KIMBLE'S turtled eyes bored through the rotting curtains and dust-clogged screen, staring with fierce annoyance at the tar paper expanse of the next roof. It was a dingy, hick town, and a very shabby hotel room. What a place for a top-notch trigger man to be stuck. He glared at the half empty bottle and small pile of change on the worn dresser cloth. Maybe a couple of bucks left; maybe not that much.

He flopped in the rickety chair by the window, watching evening settle over the sleepy village. Slowly, something in his brain clicked into place. Years ago, on his way up in the racket, he had been a pretty fair burglar. And what was that, on the next roof—but a skylight? Just made to order!

Carefully, he clambered over the sill and walked softly across the tar paper. He crouched, listening.

Gun in hand, he passed around the first corner of the alley.

by the sky light and heard no sound.

Prowling on the thick carpeting, Manny rapidly located the glassed-in front office, right in back of the show window. Wrenching quietly at the unlocked knob, he froze in sudden terror as a voice cracked through the gloom.

"Hey—you!" It sounded authoritative, arbitrary. "What d'ya think you're doing?"

Manny had no desire to talk things over. He plunged on through the door, dropped to one knee behind the desk and pulled his flat, ugly gun—all in one practiced movement. The flat gun cracked, jumping in his hand, and a tongue of orange flame stabbed toward the motion. He heard an answering roar and his stomach went hollow, fear jolting through him as a splinter of wood split from the desk by his head. Manny wasn't used to shooting at people who fought back. Like a scared cat, he turned and darted for the big front window. There was a crash of shattered glass, and the gunman rolled across the sidewalk.

Spurred by fright, Manny took chances he wouldn't have believed himself capable of. Leaping across roof tops, swinging up and down emergency ladders and fire escapes, he fled across the top of town like an overgrown bat. The minute his feet hit the lawn, he broke into a trot, heading for the nearest breaks among the houses.

More calmly now, he surveyed the situation. Well, maybe he didn't get any money, but at least he was still free. Manny plodded awkwardly over the ploughed furrows until he saw the welcome sight of crumbling walls ahead. At least, it looked like a place to hide. He dragged toward the wall, and then around it—too tired to clamber over its ruin. Soon, he found the gate and the little shack beside it; both had been abandoned for years. Staring back into the empty estate, he could see the ruins of a decaying mansion.

Dawn greyed the sky as Manny limped through the gate and shoved the rotting door open. To his surprise, the little gatehouse was fairly clean, though the faint light showed no sign of occupants or furniture. There were only two rooms and the thug prowled through both cautiously. Burns, he guessed, used it as a hang-out. Too fatigued to worry, Manny relaxed in a corner.

Manny Kimble did more than sleep—he collapsed. The physical and emotional strain had numbed every faculty, and he flopped like a heap of limp rags. Even the cars on the road outside didn't disturb him; not even when they turned up the weed choked drive and parked around the abandoned yard. Uniformed drivers piled out good-naturedly, slapping each other on the back, laughing and talking. Many of them were helping the women in the cars unload heaping baskets of food.

The first four cars to park in the rapidly filling yard had great cloth banners fastened along the sides. "Sheriff's Annual Picnic," the signs read. "Old Lawndale Estate. Get your tickets at the gatehouse."

Manny slept in peaceful ignorance as the county sheriff and two of his deputies started for the small building. The sheriff was laughing and talking, a roll of cardboard tickets slapping carelessly against his holstered pistol as he walked.

Livestock Raisers May Get Government Loans If Hit by Low Prices

Special livestock loans, authorized by recent legislation, are now available to eligible farmers and ranchers in this locality, it was announced this week by Robert C. Becker, supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration for Cook, Lake, McHenry, Kane, DeKalb and Boone counties.

Purpose of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's new loans is to provide temporary credit to livestock producers to continue their operations, after suffering economic difficulties caused by the drop in cattle prices.

Established producers of cattle, sheep, and goats may borrow if they cannot get the credit they need from customary sources, if they have good records of operations, and if the credit would give them a reasonable chance to succeed.

Loans may be used to buy or produce feed, pay for grazing permits, rent farm buildings, pasture, and feed crop land; replace, hire, or repair farm machinery and equipment, build and repair fences, move livestock as to and from grazing places; repair or improve livestock and domestic water supplies; and pay essential living expenses and cost of maintaining farm and ranch buildings.

Under the program, which expires in July of 1955, loans bear 5 per cent interest and are repayable over periods up to three years.

Inquiries may be made, or applications filed, at the Farmers Home Administration office serving the area where the farm or ranch is located. Headquarters for Lake, Cook, McHenry, Kane, Boone and DeKalb counties are at 110½ East Jackson st., Woodstock, Ill.

Fact and Scripture

No, it is not a call to come to school—most of us, like children, are not fond of school anyway. But the call is to all—we've been invited—everyone is.

A certain man made a great supper, and bade many . . . "And they all with one consent began to make excuse."

Luke 14: 16-18.
"And the lord said unto the servant: Go out into the highways and hedges and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled."

Luke 14: 23
And we like children, stop along the way to pick daisies or wade in the streams to catch some fish. Some may be studiously at work and some just idle the time away, seeking the pleasures of this world.

Would that they knew what they were missing!

Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth until everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed. John 6: 27.

FLAMING PROOF OF D-X's GIANT DIFFERENCE

See with your own eyes how this giant difference protects your car

1. Your D-X Dealer will burn off samples of D-X and any other gasoline in saucers. Their residues tell the story.

2. D-X leaves protective oil film. Other gasoline leaves hard, dry carbon. Your engine needs the D-X upper-cylinder lubricant.

It costs us extra to give you the Giant Difference in D-X Lubricating Gasoline, but you pay no premium. Remember what you pay out every time you spend extra money for a can of upper-cylinder lubricant to add to ordinary gasoline? When you buy D-X Lubricating Gasoline, you get that metal-saving, upper-cylinder protection, pre-blended into both D-X Regular and Ethyl. You get it at ordinary prices.

So—next time you buy gasoline, look for the familiar diamond-shaped D-X sign. Get that upper-cylinder protection at our expense instead of your own. Buy D-X Lubricating Gasoline—the gasoline that's sold with a money-back guarantee!

ANOTHER GIANT VALUE! NEW, STEPPED-UP D-X MOTOR OIL!

It's stepped-up with Extrinol—the exclusive D-X "wonder drug" for lubrication. Your engine deserves the protection of new D-X Motor Oil—the oil that provides top efficiency at all engine temperatures . . . the oil that actually exceeds official aviation-oil standards!

You can tell

in an instant

it's a Very great 8

At idling speed, the engine of this 1953 Buick is deceptively docile.

All you hear is a silken whisper, a kitten purr, a smooth flow of air channeling quietly through metal passageways.

Then—you want to go. You nudge the pedal. You go.

That's when you discover that you're sitting behind an engine of electrifying response.

That's when you begin to know how the power of the first Fireball V8 can handle getaway, cruising, hill-climbing.

That's when you learn what Buick's highest-compression engine in fifty great years can mean in spirited and soul-satisfying road command.

It's an experience too wonderful to miss—the booming of this brilliant new V8

Engine that powers every 1953 Buick SUPER and ROADMASTER.

So we cordially invite you to come in and try it.

We cordially invite you to hold rein on this truly advanced V8—the world's first V8 with vertical valves, with "T" type intake manifold, with zero-power-loss muffler—and the first standard-production American passenger-car engine to reach 8.5 to 1 compression ratio.

Why not come in for a sampling?

That way you can also try the other Buick gems—like Twin-Turbine Dynaflow®—and the Million Dollar Ride—and the room and visibility and handling ease of the greatest Buicks yet. Can you make it this week?

SHORT STORY

A Tower
Of Strength

By WILLIAM SCOTT

THERE was a severe storm outside. But the Brocks were unconcerned as they played cards before the fireplace.

Suddenly Mrs. Brock looked at her husband. "Augustus, you're cheating again."

Mr. Brock pulled his glasses down near the end of his nose and looked at his well-padded wife.

"Irene, my dear, you know I never cheat."

Mrs. Brock sighed. "Just tilt the lamp a little and play."

Mr. Brock didn't reply. It wasn't worth the effort. He reached back of his chair and his hand came in contact with the lamp. An electrical charge swept down his arm, lifted him about two feet from his chair, and shook him until his false teeth chattered.

"August, what in the world is the matter?"

"It's charged, my dear."

"For heaven's sake, Augustus, straighten your toupee. That's better. Now, what's charged?"

"The lamp, my dear."

Like the little man he went up in the air, flipped and crashed to the floor.

"Naturally. How else would it light?" she asked.

Mr. Brock explained. Mrs. Brock did not understand.

"Unhook it, Augustus," she said.

"I'll turn on the overhead light."

Before he could stop her she had reached for the light switch. Her two hundred pounds went up into the air and came down with a crash. "My goodness, Augustus," she panted. "It felt just like when one powders oneself after a bath, but more so."

Mr. Brock was still laughing when there was a knock at the door. Ignoring his wife, who still sat in the middle of the floor, he crossed the room and opened the door. There were two of them and each carried a little black bag and very large revolvers. They pushed Mr. Brock aside and he crashed against the wall and slid to the floor.

The smallest said, "Gee, the guy has been beating her."

"Nonsense," Mrs. Brock snorted.

"Shut up," the largest of the two said. "Just give us your car keys."

Mr. Brock tried to speak, but his wife interrupted. "But you can't do that. It's stealing!"

The small man laughed. "Lady, it can't make any difference now. We just tapped the mill's safe. Where's the keys?"

Mr. Brock handed them over.

"O. K. Now just sit still and we'll be on our way," the big man said and started for the door.

"But aren't you going to rip out the telephone or something?" Mrs. Brock asked.

Mr. Brock found his voice. "For heaven's sake, Irene, can't you keep your mouth shut?"

The man stopped. "Gee," the small one said, "that dame would make a good moll. I reckon we'd better."

"Yeah," the big one said.

The little man reached for the telephone. The instrument jumped and waved him in the air like a housewife shaking a dust mop. He was out cold.

The big man rushed to his companion. "Hey, Joe, what's the matter?" He turned on Mrs. Brock. "What did you do to him?"

"Absolutely nothing," she snapped. "If you're going to yank out the telephone go ahead and get out of here."

"Yeah," he muttered. "We'd better get going."

Like the small man he went up in the air, flipped and crashed to the floor. He groaned and tried to get to his feet but Mrs. Brock rapped him firmly on the head with the heel of a shoe.

"There," she said with satisfaction and helped Mr. Brock to his feet.

Mr. Brock was all admiration.

"How in the world did you know it was charged, my dear?"

"It was simple, Augustus. 'Why wouldn't it be, the lights were.'"

Mr. Brock didn't try to explain that the lighting and the telephone systems were separate—entirely separate. It would be a hopeless job.

"I just don't understand it," the sheriff was saying some twenty minutes later. He indicated Mr. Brock. "How could he overcome two armed men?"

Mrs. Brock smiled at the officer.

"It was easy," she said. "My Augustus is a tower of strength."

Hair Stockings

The stockings worn by the Basket Makers, a primitive people who lived in Ancient America during the Stone Age were made of human hair carefully knitted with bone knitting needles. At first, they wore square-toe sandals woven from milkweed fiber, but later in their "civilization," scalloped-toe sandals trimmed with feathers and fringes became fashionable.

Care of Shrubs

Receding snows often unmask the stripping of bark of shrubs, such as lilacs, at the snowline. The mechanical action of ice and snow grinds the bark, and often girdles trunks and branches. Shrubs affected should be carefully pruned and fed in early spring to stimulate new growth.
